

SHARE YOUR THOUGHTS ON LANDSCAPE CHANGES AT BULAHDELAH RESERVE

We have an opportunity in Bulahdelah Reserve to transform it from a simple green space into a thriving biodiverse landscape that nurtures local wildlife, strengthens our environment and offers new opportunities for community learning and recreation.

Bulahdelah Reserve is on the corner of Military Road and West Lakes Boulevard in West Lakes Shore. It has formal garden beds and trees around the perimeter, with a central grass area for recreation. Its closeness to the coast, as well as to other open and recreational spaces in the area, makes it an ideal reserve for enhancing local biodiversity.

Our aim is to reintroduce threatened plant species and promote native, coastal, and Indigenous vegetation in the reserve, creating habitat for insects, birds, and other wildlife. This will not only compliment nearby biodiversity corridors (think Tennyson Dunes and River Torrens) but also create an outdoor learning environment where community can explore, discover, and connect with nature through education and play.

We'd love to hear your views on this opportunity, including:

- If and how you use this space
- What you value about it now
- Your preferences on possible landscaping options, and
- What would the transformation of the reserve into a more biodiverse community space mean to you.

Consultation closes: 5pm Sunday, 14 December 2025

What next?

In early 2026, everyone who shares feedback or follows the project will receive an update on the consultation outcomes. A report will be presented to Council to review the engagement outcomes and determine how the project will proceed. If the project is supported, we will share a draft concept plan with the community to invite comments.

Stay up to date on this project by registering to 'Follow' the Your Say Charles Sturt project page or providing an email when you share your feedback.
